NEWS OF THE MORNING.

J. W. McDill has been appointed Senator from Iowa.

General and Mrs. Grant breakfasted yesterday morning with President and Mrs Garfield.

Colonel James G. Fair is expected to arrive from the East about the 20th of the present month.

An assessment of fifty cents per share has been levied on the capital stock of the Hale & Norcross Mining Company.

At the Sacramento election Tuesday the Citizens' ticket, made up of men of both political parties, and supported by the Democrats and independent Republicans was successful.

It is reported that President Garfield, after a conference with Secretary Blaine and Attorney-General MacVeagh, has decided to renominate Stanley Matthews of the ablest supporters of the Confedfor the Supreme Court vacancy. The statement is made with great positiveness, but cannot be verified, and it seems doubtful.

The first through San Francisco passenger train via Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad will leave Kausas City and Atchison on regular card time on Thursday, March 17, and thereafter, daily, through trains will be run over that route, which is pronounced by travelers to be totally free from obstructions incident to the weather.

The annual report of the Union Pacific show the total earnings for the year to be $22,455,134, total expenses $10,545,119, surplus earnings $11,910-015. To this must be added the income from investments on connecting roads, dividends on stock and interest on bonds, amounting to $1,010,152, and premiums on bonds sold, profits on investments, sureties sold, etc., $284,240, making the total surplus earnings $13,-204,416.

In the Kalloch case the evidence now is that De Young frequently announced his intention of driving the Kalloch family out of the State. Referring particularly to the prisoner on one occasion in a restaurant he drew a pistol, saying if he failed to drive them out by means of his paper there was another way; that he would have no hesitation in shooting a man who stood in his GRANTSVILLE.

This camp is cutitled to its share of praise among mining camps as it is now fairly on the road to rank with the first in Nevada. The Bonauza, the camp's lively representative, has the subjoined concerning the present and future prospects:

Three years ago a casual observer on top of one of the surrounding mountains might have noticed a single cabin standing in a deserted cauyon (with no signs of life) through which the wind crept with nothing to check its mad career but the surroundings. To-day that siugle cabin is no longer in solitude and that lonely canyon is now a flourishing mining camp. Grantsville contains about 400 houses of all descriptions stockade, abode, frame and brick. Its inhabitants number 1,000 or over and are comprised of all the nationalities of the globe. As you enter the canyon from the west the first thing that greets your view is the large and flourishing foundry of Geo. Nicholl & Co., managed by James M. Caldwell; then on oither side, as you move eastward, the canyen is filled with miners' cubins; a little further up you emerge into fall view of the Alexander mill-one of the finest in the State. This mill contains forty stamps that never stop except for repairs or a general clean up. On the right of the canyon as you come up the narrow gulch is the Brooklyn hoisting works, lately erected by Messrs. J. Cooper and M. San Pedro. The Brooklyn is one of the finest mines in the State and produces ore that assays all the way from $14 to $1,700 per ton. On the same side of the canyon, a little further up, is the Alameda mine; the ledge in this mine is very wide and regular and carries good paying ore streaked with native silver. Just across the canyon lies the famous Alexander mine, which contains one of the largest bodies of ore ever found in Nevada; those who have examined it speak of it with wonder and amazement. They are busy sinking to open up the seventh level and as depth is gained the ore gradually improves in character and grade. No camp in the State of Nevada can boast of better prospects than Grantsville can at present. The time is not far distant when it will be known far and wide as one of the leading mining towns of Nevada, and it is but fair to state that the indomitable pluck and perseverance of Messrs. J. nining corporations have, but neverthetain his present position.

JEFF DAVIS'S RISTORY.

Jefferson Davis, as is well known, has peen a long time engaged in writing a Confederate Government," and the receipt of advance sheets affords an opporreviews the conflicts and controversies between the North and the South up to the close of the rebellion. He regards the attitude which the North assumed against the extension of slavery into the new States and territories of the West as the real cause of the war. The _election of Lincoln by a party which opposed the farther extension of slavery ry of State rights. This is his hobby, and he devotes much space to its explanation and defense. One-half of the for a large amount of reflection: book relates to the questions which caused the war; the other half is principally devoted to a statement of the dissensions among the Confederate leaders, and a defeuse of the prolongation of the war for mouths after many eracy had declared their conviction that success was impossible and demanded an abandonment of the conflict. Mr. Davis makes the curious assumption that the South was not to be held responsible for the existence of slavery. He admits the wrong of slavery, but because it existed the attempt to dissolve the Union for its perpetuation was not wrong. This is a kind of logic that the Northern people do not understand. They remember that no attempt was ever made to interfere with slavery where it existed until the slave States had been in rebellion for nearly two vears. They remember also that the resistance which they made to the extension of slavery was against the attempts of the South to force it upon States and territories, in a plain violation of the doctrine of State rights as the acts by which it was prevented from succeeding. For a certain section to was according to Mr. Davis' reasoning in perfect consonance with the rights of burdships and principles of burdships and burdshi force slavery where it was not wanted in perfect consonance with the rights of hurdships and privations; already they the States; but to resist such an inva-Sion was in violation of those rights.

Congress, and great moneyed corporations, with their subsidized newspapers, put down the rebellion will never admit, pander to them, and it is plain that this and it is one which makes the friends of the Union suspicions of those who are still talking about the sacred rights of the States as something that has been and is still being outraged in the adjust. ment of the questions growing out of hundred and twenty thousand—are the war. Mr. Davis' book will make Mormons. And the hive has common converts. It is at best a special plea for the Confederacy, and probably embodies all the arguments that can be brought forward in defense of palliation of the gigantic crime of the South ugainst the Union. It is due to Mr. Davis to say that he appears to have moved with the progress of events. He does not sigh much for the old regime, or contend that the country was either ruined or transformed into a despotism by emancipation. His book is not written for the purpose of showing that the old was better than the new, but to vindicate himself. He found slavery established, the South resting upon it, and the North destroying the industrial foundation of his section. He was the mere agent for its defense. The idea does not seem to occur to him that slavery was a monstrous wrong to men, which was swept away, not by the rivalries of States, but by the gathering impulses of civilization, which had been pressing against it like a mighty current for two hundred years, until they became too strong for resistance.

As a contribution to history the work has much value, by showing the internal workings of the Confederate government. Mr. Davis is still emulous of the bad distinction of having been its most sagacious and persistent leader, and his contribution will provoke other books by other leaders, with the object dated, actual cash balance, $142,005 of, of giving their view of the story or de fending themselves from Davis's imputations upon their statesmanship and Benton Consolidated, above all liabilities. books by other leaders, with the object putations upon their statesmanship and courage. Robert Toombs is gravely offended, and ready to indict Davis for falsehood. This quarrel does not greatly concern us, but Mr. Davis's statements as the chief actor and most responsible agent will naturally be read with a more generous allowance of credit than those of his rivats for the honors of the Confederacy. Very naturally he is not pleased with Mr. Lincoln, whom he charges with treachery

Among the best of the several excellent, interesting and instructive articles history of "The Rise and Fall of the in the North American Review for March to open a working station at their 2600 is that of Judge C. The following specimen extracts afford much food

With the death of Brigham Young, the American leadership of the Mormons ceased. Taylor is an Englishman, Cannon is an Englishman, and almost all the leaders are of foreign birth. The Mormon church is a foreign kingdom, hostile in all its features to a republican form of government; it is guided and controlled by foreigners, and depends upon foreigners and the children of foreigners for future expansion and power. It is absolutely un-American in all its attributes.

It is a theorracy managed by a ple-being aristocracy, for intellectually the whole organization is of low order. Now, in addition to church ties, there are family ties to hold this people in unity. The organization is funaticism superstition solidified. It numbers probably 150,000 souls, and is increasing as fast as polygamy and immigration can accomplish the result. It is swiftly peopling all the agricultural valleys of our richest Territories, and its leaders boldly proclaim their intention to sub-jugate the whole Union and bring it under their rule. They exalt their church over the State; contemn all laws which conflict with any tenet of their creed; are as careless of their oaths as a Chinaman, and bear as little allegiance to the United States Government as do the Chinese. The control of the chiefs, as in Mohammedan countries, is absocipline of the people perfect. The vote of Idaho, for Delegate to Congress, was carried at the late election by a brief order of George Q. Cannon, directing Mormons in that Territory to vote for a certain man. Cannon did not leave his office in Salt Lake City; but all the Mormons in Idaho voted as a unit. Allow Mormonism to go on un-checked for ten years longer and Uan-non will, from the same office, diotate the elections of all the region between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Ocean, except Catifornia and Otegon; that is, he will hold under absolute control, as in Utah, or the balance of power, as in Idaho, a region as great in area as all the United States, east of the State Senator Hibbard, S. M. Clark, Judge Cole and United States Marshal John Chapman are most favorably mentioned. There is no indication of Governor Gear's intention in the matter.

Secretary Windom was seronaded at his residence in Washington ou Monday night by the Minnesota State Republican Association. There were speeches, etc. The new Secretary said it had been the greatest struggle of his life to determine whether he should accept this unsought honor. His speech cept this unsought honor. His speech was a whole-souled, hearty one.

Governor Pillsbury, of Minnesots, has not yet received the resignation of Senator Windom, and until he does he will not appoint a successor. He is deluged with letters of recommendation, petitions, etc., in behalf of various as-

The Missing Jeannette.

The Bulletin a few days ago published an editorial article from which it appeared that negotiatious for the sale to the government of the steam whaler Mary and Helen for a cruise in search of the Jeannette had been complicated by claims of middlemen for commissions. It is known that preparations had been in progress to fit her out for another whaling voyage, and it was feared that the negotiations had fallen through. Last Monday night, however, a telegram was received by the engineer in charge of the whaler instructing him to immediately stop procuring any further furnishings and supplies for the steamer. The dispatch is from Wm. Lewis, the owner of the vessel, in New Bedford, and stated that negotiations had probably been consummated for the sale of Mary and Helen. The general opinion to-day in marine circles is that the United States government has purchased her and that she will be sent forth early in May on the Jeannette search and relief expedition.

HORATIO SEYMOUR'S PRO-POSED VISIT.

Seymour will visit this coast during the coming Summer. In a letter to Edward Curtis, of this city, dated Utica, February 28, 1881, he says: "I wish I could visit San Francisco, and will do so soon, if I am-able. I am now seventy-one years of age, and have been confined to my house a good deal of the time during the past Winter." No citizen in the United States would be received with greater enthusiasm by all classes in Sau Francisco than the venerable statesman whose name heads this item. He is now altogether out of politics, but he exercises great influence for good, both socially and morally. In the presidential campaign of 1868 he carried this city against General Grant, and all but carried the State. He twice declined a sent in the United States Senate when it was tendered him by the unanimous vote of his party in the New York Legislature, and the gentleman designated by him as fit for the office was elected instead. It was the boast of Utica people last Fall that one of their townsmen could be President of the United States by saying the word "yes;" and although this inight not have happened upon trial, it is certain that Horatio Seymour would have been a very strong candidate. As a distinguished citizen of the United States, a man full of years and honors, Horatio Seymour would receive a wel come from the Pacific slope which would well repay the fatigue of the journey hither.—[S. ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Mrs. Katie Jones, nee McLeizh, Shot But Not Killed, Last Evening.

A dastardly attempt to murder Mrs. Katie Jones (better known as Katie Mc-Leish) was made last evening about half-past eight o'clock. She was out walking with Mrs. Foyce, for whom she is working, and they were returning home, when, just as they had reached a spot in the road between McFarlin's blacksmith shop and the railroad sidetrack opposite, some person, evidently in hiding beneath one of the cars on the side-track, shot at Mrs. Jones and rushed away. The ball took effect in Russian White Oats. See it and get a the left breast just above the heart. few pounds. Mrs. Jones bore the wound heroically and after the first scare of being removed to Osburn & Shoemaker's drug store for medical help, walked to the residence of her employer, where Dr. Dawson made an examination. A Jour-NAL reporter interviewed her, and learned that on Morday morning she had received warning that some woman "had been watching for her for two or three nights, and would kill her at the first good opportunity." She thought The plan laid down is to open the nothing more of the matter at the time, 2700 level all along from Sierra Nevada although her companion last evening insisted upon borrowing and taking along a little 4-shooter for self-defense. From Mrs. Jones' story to us it is evident that the shooting was done by some jealous person. A divorce suit is now pending between Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

Wood Contract.

A Reno dispatch to the Virginia Chronicle reads as follows;

"It is reported here, on good authority, that the Bonanza firm have closed a contract for 200,000 cords of wood with James Mayberry, the contractor, This news is stiffening confidence in the Comstock's future.

We do not know that the papers have been signed, but we have every reason to believe that the Bonanza people intend to resume operations in the mountains, and it is not improbable that Mayberry will have the contract. The Pacific Wood, Lumber and Flume Co. own sufficient timber land to make the stumpige worth $70 or $80 per acre to them. It would take about two years to clean up the tract, it being estimated that there are about 180,000 cords of wood to cut and flume. It would be finmed to Mayberry's rauch, and then either dumped into the river and floated down to Reno, or a flume built from the ranch to town. The wood can be loaded on the cars at Reno for $3 50 per cord, and landed in Vir- Sells the Nicost Ruchings and ginia at $8 50. The renewal of operations in the mountains would be of vast benefit to Reno at this time, and the expenditure of nearly a million dollars would set the town a-booming.
